SunoikisisDC
An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs
Monica Berti and Gregory R. Crane

Sunoikisis Course Planning and Faculty Development Seminar - Common Day
CHS, June 15, 2016

Sunoikisis | A national consortium of Classics programs

Digital Humanities

The rise of Digital Technologies is an opportunity to re-assess and re-establish how the humanities can advance the understanding of the past and to support a dialogue among civilizations. After all, there is no field more international than Classics.

Digital Humanities
UNIVERSITÄT LEIPZIG

Teaching and Training Programs

An international consortium of Digital Classics programs

SunoikisisDC

Sunoikisis | A national consortium of Classics programs

Digital Humanities
UNIVERSITÄT LEIPZIG

Sunoikisis | A national consortium of Classics programs

Home About Courses Students Faculty E-Journal FAQs Contact

Faculty

Sunoikisis offers a faculty members a range of opportunities for involvement. Many faculty members offer the Sunoikisis courses at their institutions and lead one of the weekly common sessions. Others participate in the course planning seminar and assist in evaluating student examinations. Senior faculty serve as course consultants during the planning sessions and work with the course directors who run the planning seminars and coordinate the weekly common sessions during the fall courses.

Current Participating Faculty

The following faculty members are teaching or assisted in planning the 2016-17 Sunoikisis courses.

Monica Berti is Assistant Professor at the University of Leipzig (Alexander von Humboldt Chair of Digital Humanities), where she teaches courses in digital philology and digital scholarly editing. She has been working since 2008 with the Perseus Digital Library at Tufts University, where she has also been visiting professor in the Department of Classics. Her research interests are mainly focused on ancient Greece and the digital humanities and she has been extensively publishing and leading projects in both fields. She is currently working on representing quotations and text reuses of ancient lost works and she is leading the Leipzig Open Fragmentary Texts Series (LOFTS), which is part of the Open Philology Project of the Humbolt Chair of Digital Humanities at the University of Leipzig. One of the correlated projects of LOFTS is a new digital edition of Athenaeus' Deipnosophists. She is also currently leading a Sunoikisis program in Digital Classics in Europe.

Patrick J. Burns is a Ph.D. Candidate in the Department of Classics at Fordham University and is completing a dissertation on the influence of Latin love elegy on Lucan's Bellum Civile. He has taught Latin and Greek at Fordham at all levels as well as Roman History and Greco-Roman Mythology, and has a particular interest in adapting classical and medieval methods of education for the modern classroom. His current research involves the use of text analysis and natural language processing in the study of Latin intertextuality and he is currently on the steering committee for the Digital Classics Association.

D. Ben DeSmidt joined the Carthage faculty in 2005, where he is now Associate Professor of Great Ideas and Classics. His interests center on the Latin language and literature, and more broadly on the influence of ancient legal thought on the origins of the novel. He earned his B.A. (1995) from the University of Chicago and his M.A., M.Phil. and Ph.D. (2006) from Columbia University.

John Esposito finished his PhD in Classics at UNC-Chapel Hill in August

Features

Classics Events

Greek Podcasts

Latin Podcasts

Odyssey Podcasts

Online Education Forum

Student Chronicle

Sunoikisis News

Galleries

Kenchreai

January Term

News @Sunoikisis

Sunoikisis @Sunoikisis

The National Geographic Museum's THE GREEKS
wp.chs.harvard.edu/sunoikisis/201...

10 Jun

Sunoikisis @Sunoikisis

"After the Gold Rush": MOOCs, money, and the education of Richard McKenzie (CHE) wp.chs.harvard.edu/sunoikisis/201...

Users

CENTER FOR
HELLENIC STUDIES
HARVARD UNIVERSITY

CENTER FOR
HELLENIC STUDIES
HARVARD UNIVERSITY

Sunoikisis | A national consortium of Classics programs

Sunoikisis
A national consortium of Classics programs

Sunoikisis comes from Thucydides (3.3.1) in reference to the alliance formed by the cities of Lesbos (Methymna excluded) in their revolt against the Athenian empire in 428 BCE

Likewise, this collaborative program seeks to:

• develop a set of common goals

• achieve a degree of success and prominence

• go beyond the capacity of a single program

SunoikisisDC
An international consortium of Digital Classics programs

- extend Sunoikisis to a global audience

- contribute to Sunoikisis with a consortium of Digital Classics programs

- offer inter-institutional collaborative courses

- foster interdisciplinary paradigms of learning

- involve advanced BA and MA students (humanities and computer science)

- teach students how to contribute to digital classics projects

- offer competences in digital editing and computational analysis of complex ancient sources

- work in a collaborative environment

Challenges

- Integrating research and teaching
- Integrating different communities
- Integrating the global and the local
- Integrating different scholarly domains

SunoikisisDC
Overview

Planning Seminar

- faculty members meeting:
  - discuss course topics
  - schedule class times
  - finalize syllabus

faculty members only lead weekly common sessions and/or assist in evaluating independent students

Courses

- Sunoikisis course:
  - weekly webcast sessions (via Google Hangout)
  - online discussions moderated by faculty members
  - weekly tutorials with faculty members at home institutions

Sunoikisis DC 2015

An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs

SunoikisisDC – An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs
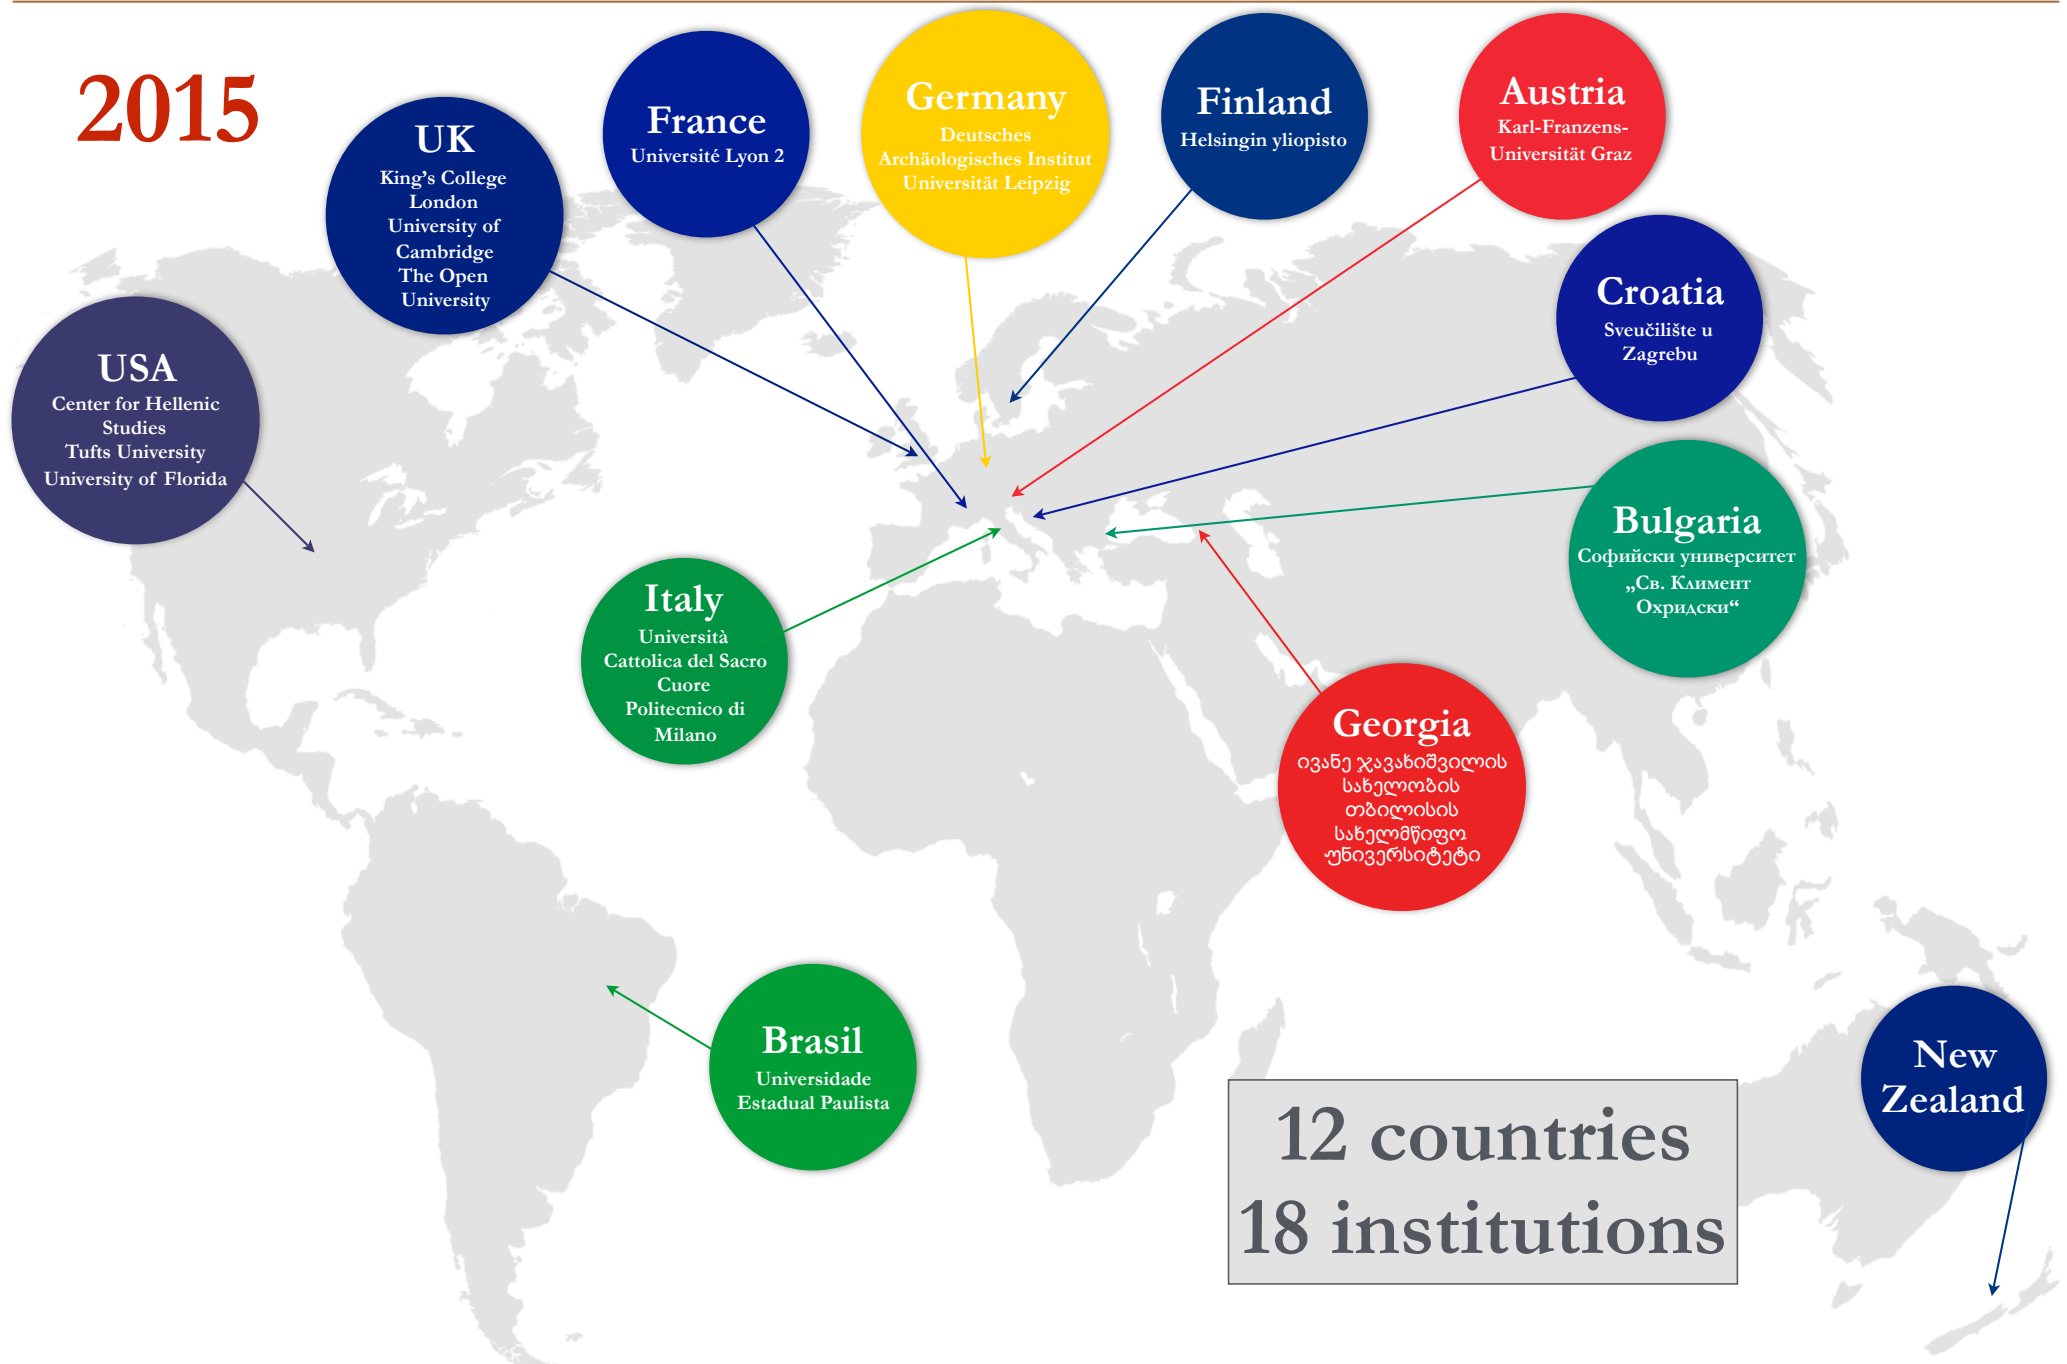

Planning Seminar 2015

February 16-18, 2015

Felix-Klein-Hörsaal (5. Etage)

Paulinum, Hauptgebäude

Universität Leipzig

Augustusplatz 10-11 – 04109 Leipzig

Sunoikisis | A national consortium of Classics programs

Digital Humanities
UNIVERSITÄT LEIPZIG

2015

UK
King's College London
University of Cambridge
The Open University

France
Université Lyon 2

Germany
Deutsches Archäologisches Institut
Universität Leipzig

Finland
Helsingin yliopisto

Austria
Karl-Franzens-Universität Graz

Croatia
Sveučilište u Zagrebu

USA
Center for Hellenic Studies
Tufts University
University of Florida

Italy
Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore
Politecnico di Milano

Bulgaria
Софийски университет „Св. Климент Охридски"

Georgia
ივანე ჯავახიშვილის სახელობის თბილისის სახელმწიფო უნივერსიტეტი

Brasil
Universidade Estadual Paulista

New Zealand

12 countries
18 institutions

Sunoikisis DC 2016

An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs

SunoikisisDC – An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs
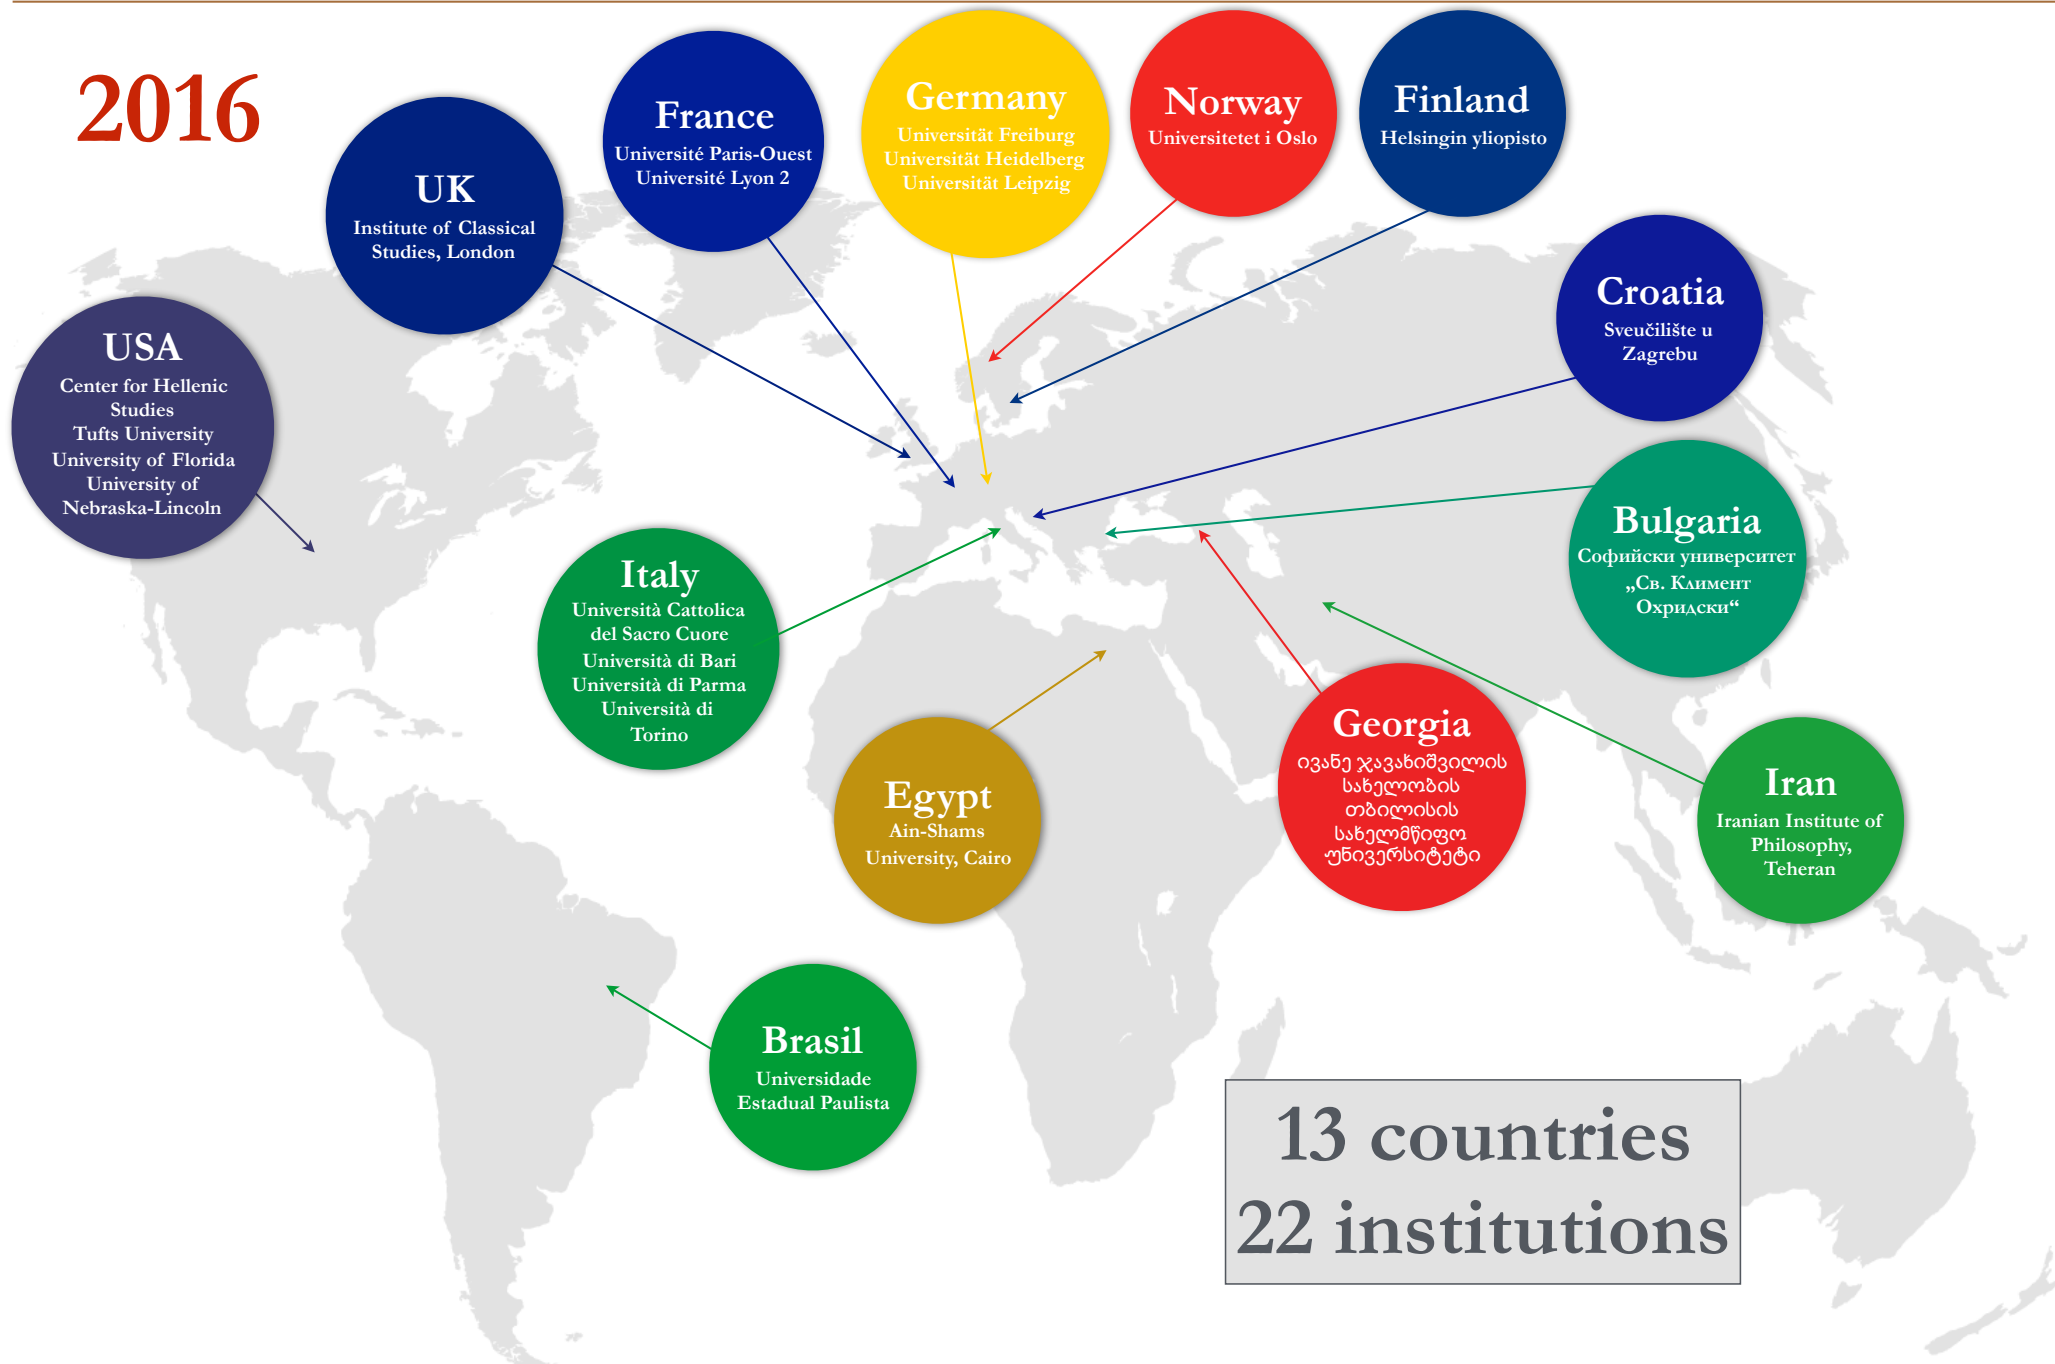

Planning Seminar 2016

December 16-17, 2015

P 402 (4. Etage)

Paulinum, Hauptgebäude

Universität Leipzig

Augustusplatz 10-11 – 04109 Leipzig

Digital Humanities
UNIVERSITÄT LEIPZIG

Home   Projects ⌄   Courses   BSc DH Program   SunoikisisDC   Events   Blog   Team   Contact   🔍

SunoikisisDC
An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs

SunoikisisDC
An International Consortium of Digital Classics Programs

Program Director
Monica Berti

SunoikisDC is an international consortium of Digital Classics programs developed by the Alexander von Humboldt Chair of Digital Humanities at the University of Leipzig in collaboration with the Harvard's Center for Hellenic Studies and Perseids.

The goal is to extend Sunoikisis CHS to a global audience and contribute to it with a teaching program focused on the application of digital technologies to the study of Greek and Latin. The aim is to offer collaborative courses that foster interdisciplinary paradigms of learning. Master students of both the humanities and computer science are welcome to join the courses and work together by contributing to digital classics projects in a collaborative environment.

SunoikisisDC started in the SS 2015 with a Digital Classics course involving 12 countries. Faculty members of participating institutions gathered at the University of Leipzig on February 16-18 for a planning seminar in order to discuss course topics, schedule the academic calendar, and develop the course syllabus.

The SunoikisisDC 2016 Planning Seminar was held at the University of Leipzig on December 16-17, 2015 for developing the course syllabus for SS 2016.

Planning seminars and courses are organized by the Alexander von Humboldt Chair of Digital Humanities at the University of Leipzig in collaboration with the Center for Hellenic Studies and Perseids.

Affiliated Institutions:
Institute of Classical Studies, London
Ivane Javakhishvili Tbilisi State University (ივანე ჯავახიშვილის სახელობის თბილისის სახელმწიფო უნივერსიტეტი)
Tufts University
Universidade Estadual Paulista (UNESP) – Câmpus de Araraquara
University of Florida
Universität Leipzig
Université Lumière Lyon 2 – SunoikisisDC in Lyon
University of Sofia (Софийски университет „Св. Климент Охридски")
University of Zagreb (Sveučilište u Zagrebu)

Visit us on GitHub – SunoikisisDC

- SunoikisisDC 2015
- SunoikisisDC 2016

Digital Humanities
UNIVERSITÄT LEIPZIG

SunoikisisDC

An international consortium of Digital Classics programs

View the Project on GitHub
SunoikisisDC/SunoikisisDC

| Download ZIP File | Download TAR Ball | View On GitHub |

SunoikisisDC

An international consortium of Digital Classics programs

Program Director: Monica Berti

SunoikisisDC is an international consortium of Digital Classics programs developed by the Alexander von Humboldt Chair of Digital Humanities at the University of Leipzig in collaboration with the Harvard's Center for Hellenic Studies and Perseids.

The goal is to extend Sunoikisis CHS to a global audience and contribute to it with a teaching program focused on the application of digital technologies to the study of Greek and Latin. The aim is to offer collaborative courses that foster interdisciplinary paradigms of learning. Master students of both the humanities and computer science are welcome to join the courses and work together by contributing to digital classics projects in a collaborative environment.

SunoikisisDC started in the SS 2015 with a Digital Classics course involving 12 countries. Faculty members of participating institutions gathered at the University of Leipzig on February 16-18 for a planning seminar in order to discuss course topics, schedule the academic calendar, and develop the course syllabus.

The SunoikisisDC 2016 Planning Seminar will be held at the University of Leipzig on December 16-17, 2015 for developing the course syllabus for SS 2016.

Planning seminars and courses are organized by the Alexander von Humboldt Chair of Digital Humanities at the University of Leipzig in collaboration with the Center for Hellenic Studies and Perseids.

- SunoikisisDC 2015
- SunoikisisDC 2016

Affiliated Institutions:

- Institute of Classical Studies, London
- Ivane Javakhishvili Tbilisi State University (ივანე ჯავახიშვილის სახელობის თბილისის სახელმწიფო უნივერსიტეტი)
- Tufts University
- Universidade Estadual Paulista (UNESP) – Câmpus de Araraquara
- Universität Leipzig
- Université Lyon 2
- University of Sofia (Софийски университет „Св. Климент Охридски")
- University of Zagreb (Sveučilište u Zagrebu)

This project is maintained by SunoikisisDC

Hosted on GitHub Pages — Theme by orderedlist

SunoikisisDC 2016

- Syllabus - Google doc

- GitHub SunoikisisDC
  - Wiki

- Google+ Community SunoikisisDC
  - Live Broadcast

Thank you!

Monica Berti

🙂